Mrs. Ruth Dotson,
Detroit, Michigan

My dear Mrs. Dotson:

God bless you and yours. Many thanks for your kind favor of last week. I am sending the certificates, etc., under separate cover.

I am glad you told me of the handicapped little girl with the brain tumor. And since you give such details of the parents etc., I hope the whole "tragedy" may turn to have been a blessing in disguise; viz, to bring the child and all concerned closer to the dear Lord.

I am going to copy some notes I made on a case of brain-tumor, the cure of which I know about. This case came to my knowledge almost three years ago, when two ladies came to the Monastery Office on Mt. Elliot Ave. in Detroit, Michigan; Feb. 23rd, 1943. The elderly of the two introduced the younger:

"...This is Mrs. Wheeler who is not of our faith but whose husband is very sick and she would like to speak to you about him." Mrs. Wheeler was weeping. I asked her what denomination they belonged to and she answered: "Methodist." "Well, thank the dear Lord," I answered, "we're both Christians, so that in a way you belong to my faith anyhow because after all there is only one Christianity."

"But what is the trouble?" "My husband had a tumor removed from his brain just a month ago today and just this morning they performed the third operation on him. They give me very little hope of his recovery.""Now Mrs. Wheeler, I have a proposition for you to make."It was Tuesday. "You make a promise to the Good God in your own honest way that if your husband gives the doctors a surprise tomorrow, or by the end of the week, you will be earnest about finding out for yourself, at least something of the difference, or better said, something of the relationship between your denomination as a Methodist and the "Mother Church." "I'll do anything to please the Lord," she said weeping, "if He'll only spare my poor, dear husband."
