My Dear Miss Courtney:

It has just struck 10:30 p.m. and I perhaps ought to be slumbering before this, but I want to do what I've been forced to put off thus far - write you a few words of encouragement, etc. I surely am pleased with words and reports of your now constant improvement. I would like to have called to see you today but it was raining and when I left the dentist I had just time to get home for dinner. ... I hope you will continue to improve till you are back "on the job" again. Of course it is possible that you may be a little lame in that knee of yours, though we will hope for the best and leave it all to the divine Lover of our Souls -

Yes leave everything to Him - offering ourselves to Him to suffer whatever His love may permit. When I think of your condition for the first week or two it looks to me almost like a miracle that you pulled through at all. Thank God for it all! I am sure your sufferings were not lost, and that more than yourself have profited by them spiritually. . . .

Now good night and God bless you: as well as all your nurses and friends.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Fr. Solanus Casey, O. . M. Cap.
